

The LeaseEagle solution is renowned for its clever reminders and management processes that make rent review, option exercise, lease expiry and specific clause reminder dates a permanent and unforgotten item in retailers' diaries.

The tipping point came while I was reporting on an ill-performing store. Going through my predecessor's notes I came across a lease clause. The clause allowed us to leave the lease - so long as we did so by a certain date - in the event that the store was not performing well. No reminder had been set for that date and of course; with about 220 stores to monitor it was not something immediately on the radar. Sure enough, we had missed the date in the clause by a week. It was enough to convince the Board that budgeting for a software solution for the property portfolio was a bottom-line priority.

Working with LeaseEagle

Working with the LeaseEagle team to implement the solution was as easy as loading the data into the system. Despite having vast amounts of data for each store to incorporate, it was completed without a hitch.

Ms. Rebiffø continued, Going through the process with LeaseEagle was amazing. They listened carefully to what we needed and even if it was not yet in scope for the product, they adapted the solution and got it done for us. And as the software developed I received updates about new capabilities relevant to our business. At any time I needed support, I could simply call the LeaseEagle team and they would walk me through any problem I was having. And as far as training was concerned, the team was fantastic.

Now, NONI B uses LeaseEagle for recording monthly sales information regarding occupancy costs, lease analysis, preparation of renewals, rental figures and communication and reporting of sales to shopping centre managers.

Ms. Rebiffø continued, I now have various templates for different reports ready and waiting for data, and with just a press of a button it pulls the data down into the folder. The lease analysis is done in five minutes. Where it used to take up to two hours, now it's so fast it has freed up my time to actually visit the stores I'm reporting on. Because it's accessible through the web, I just take my iPad with me and it's all there at my fingertips. No more reams of papers to shuffle through. LeaseEagle is a one-stop lease management shop.

Results

NONI B has completely changed its approach to property management, reporting and leasing with the help of LeaseEagle. According to Ms. Rebiffø it's been a small investment for huge benefit.

LeaseEagle has revolutionised how we manage our property portfolios. I now store all my documents in there, from lease negotiations to store plans and construction completion certificates. Even the latest store photos get uploaded into LeaseEagle. From the road I can see the store I'm about to visit, what the fit out work needs to encompass, what the stores need to look like. Everything. I even add in relevant notes from business managers and managerial staff, who let us know about activity in the centre and if any competitors are popping up. All the notes go into the communication log. Basically, anything I can get my hands on goes in the system.

With this capability at her fingertips, Ms. Rebiffø has been able to challenge landlords successfully with regard to CPI charges or when lease renewals come up for review, and the savings have been notable.

She added, For the first time, I am actually looking forward to developing our property portfolio budget. Given everything it has changed for us so far, I just know LeaseEagle will save us days and days of preparation, reporting and presentation. I'm excited to be in such a strong position, thanks to the solution that LeaseEagle developed - and continues to develop - with us.
